REPUBLICANS RUN ROUGH SHOD IN SENATE

With Help of Lieutenant Governor, Minority Filibusters To Stop Democratic Bills

By Associated Press
Frankfort, Mar. 1.—A republican filibuster in the Senate against democratic party measures was halted temporarily just before daylight today when derangement of the lighting system at the state capitol building caused Senator W. A. Perry, democrat, Louisville, to move adjournment until 2 o'clock today. The vote was put and carried in the dark.

The republican effort began at 10 o'clock Tuesday, although it did not get in full swing until after the recess for luncheon. From that time until 4:30 this morning there was no letup; the democrats refusing to recess even for an hour and the republicans declaring they would stay with the majority to a finish.

The Simmons' highway commission bill was made the vehicle of the republican filibuster. Their battle is aimed both at delaying action on it to the point where the house could pass it in time to prevent its being killed by the governor's veto and also to delay the blind and illiterate voters bill and the Smith-Minor general registration bill so they could be killed by veto.

The time of the Senate was almost entirely taken up by republican speeches charging the democrats with efforts to put the state highway department into politics. Plans were made today for another all night session tonight.

Frankfort, Ky., Mar. 1.—Republicans in the Senate Tuesday seized the reins and began what promises to be a historical filibuster. Although in the minority they seized control Tuesday and at midnight still had the floor with the democratic majority sitting hopelessly by while their opponents talked against them.

Republican floor leader Brock announced to the democrats in the Senate that republicans under the rules could hold the Senate until Wednesday night on the road bill. He announced that they were fighting for the "life of the republican party in Kentucky" and that they would fight to the end against the blind and illiterate voter bill and the general registration bill.

Prospects were that the session would last all night and possibly throughout Wednesday. Nineteen democrats and seventeen republicans were on the floor. Senator B. T. Davis, of Fulton county, having been granted leave of absence at 6:45 o'clock despite the fact that no republican would pair with him, He was ill.

At midnight ten amendments to the Simmons' highway commission reorganization bill had been disposed of and the clerk had probably twenty more before him. It was taking from 30 to 45 minutes to act on each amendment. Every republican was occupying from one to three minutes in explaining his vote on each amendment.

The vote on an amendment was invariably followed by a motion to adjourn. This was followed by motion to recess. Occasionally a motion to table was made.

"We know your program right straight through," Mr. Perry said. "We knew you were going to recognize the Senator from Madison." Mr. Perry said, "If you did," Mr. Ballard said. "It was more than I knew." Mr. Perry continued, "But we insist that you be fair. I want you." Senator Frank E. Daugherty, of Nelson county, ranking member of the Rules Committee, was the next to take the floor.

"I make that the charge from the Senate floor that a pre-arranged program has been carried out. First the Senator from Bell was recognized. When he had concluded the Senator from Harlan was recognized, and the chair was ready to recognize the Senator from Madison despite the fact that I was on the floor first."

tion was the sub-road measure organizing the road department and creating a commission of four members.

The struggle was the most heated that yet has occurred on the Senate floor and members of the house and employees of the capital rushed into the chamber. The galleries were filled and during most of the time the people were standing up. Charges followed when Senator Perry, president pro tem, finally took charge after an appeal from the decision of Lieutenant Governor Ballard, members of both parties rushed to the rostrum and surrounded the chair. The sergeant-at-arms took a hand in the affair and ordered the Senate chamber cleared and made the Senators resume their seats.

At 7 o'clock sandwiches and coffee were brought in for the republicans, and all members of the senate, including the democrats, and newspaper men and attachés were invited to eat. The sergeant-at-arms locked the side doors against outsiders, but not the main doors.

At 12:30 o'clock Wednesday morning the Kentucky State Senate voted that, although the Constitution provides that a legislative day shall be a calendar day, the Senate can remain in continuous session after midnight. The vote was taken when Lieut. Gov. Ballard, on motion of Senator Hiram Brock, left the question of continuance of the session after midnight up to the Senate proper. The 19 democrats on the floor voted that the session be continued and the 17 republicans voted against it.

Ballard Plays Politics
Charges of unfairness were hurled at Lieut. Gov. Ballard, presiding officer, from the Senate floor when the filibuster started. Senator Brock, republican leader, had just concluded a long argument against Senator Simmons' bill to reorganize the state highway commission. Before him, Senator Moss, republican, had made an argument just as long.

When Senator Brock yielded the floor several democratic Senators jumped up shouting, "Mr. President, Mr. President." Senator Haselden, of Crab Orchard, republican, announced that the Enrollment Committee, of which he is chairman, wanted to make a report. The chair recognized Senator Wm. Wallace of Madison county, however.

"I arise to personal privilege, Senator W. A. Perry, of Louisville, democratic leader and chairman of the Rules Committee, which is in control during the last twenty legislative days," said Mr. Ballard. "I am a republican and I have been granted leave of absence at 6:45 o'clock despite the fact that no republican would pair with him. He was ill.

In The House

During the afternoon, the House of Representatives, which had voted to hold a night session passed Harry J. Meyers' anti-shark bill, 45 to 14. This bill sets the Russell Sage foundation's model small loan three and one-half per cent a month rate into effect.

MURDER TRIAL GOES OVER TO MAY TERM

Death of Grandfather of Young Men Accused Causes Postponement of Case

Owing to the death of their grandfather, David Garrett, the trials of the two young men, Oscar Rucker and Frank Garrett who are under indictment charged with killing Oliver VanSant, was postponed to the May term of circuit court by Judge Shaeckford when the case was called Wednesday morning.

The two young men, and their parents and other relatives were in town all day Tuesday as that date was originally set for the trial. Their aged grandfather became worse and passed away. Roy Williams who was accused by W. C. Powell of having stuck a pistol at him and robbed him if $5 on the L. & N. railroad some time ago, was acquitted by a jury. Williams conducted his own defense without the aid of a lawyer. He sought to show that he and Powell had been gambling in a freight car and that Powell lost the money gambling.

After Williams had won his case, it was remarked by a court attache that the only two cases where the defendants had conducted their own cases, were won by them.

Mrs. Eva Bicknell was acquitted of a charge of selling a drink of liquor for 35 cents but Tom Roberts caught a fine of $300 and 60 days in jail on a charge of selling a pint of moonshine.

Charles Fielder was acquitted on a charge of carrying concealed a deadly weapon. Three men were also acquitted of a petit larceny charge. They were James Fritts, Hugh Johnson and Mack Claxton.

On a liquor charge Bowen Rose was given $200 and 40 days. The four Winchester negroes who were caught with a car full of moonshine whisky by Richmond police on Main street, one night several weeks ago, were all convicted and fined $300 and given 60 days each. They were Wm. McDonald, James Rose, James Skinner, Walter Perkins and Alia Wilson.

Jesse Owens, of Winchester, who is charged with false swearing in connection with this case, was brought to town by William Benton, son Judge J. M. Benton, and surrendered to the court. Judge Shaeckford set aside a forfeiture of the bond which had been entered when Owens did not show up Tuesday. Owens will be tried on the charge Friday. He was placed under $500 for his appearance.

"Bill" Young was acquitted of a charge of selling liquor. He admitted having secured some but swore he did not sell any. "Bill" said he bought the liquor from Mrs. Lula Johnson, and he was instructed by Judge Shaeckford to tell before the grand jury and tell it the same story that he told on the witness stand.

More Brokers Indicted

By Associated Press

New York, Mar. 1.—Twelve more stock brokers were indicted by the Supreme Court grand jury here today for irregularities disclosed in District Attorney Blanton's investigation of bucket shopping which followed the failure of a number of brokerage firms.

NEW STORE'S OPENING A DECIDED SUCCESS

Biggest Merchant There is Much Pleased Here—Is Strong Believer In Advertising

The sleet and rain kept a lot of people indoors Wednesday, but the bad weather didn't appear to affect the opening of Pushin's Fashion Shop in the least, if the crowds that thronged this latest addition to Richmond's commercial life were a reliable indication. The handsomely equipped storeroom was a blaze of light and beauty all day long. All the spring's newest things for the fair sex were displayed to advantage. Flowers were used in tasteful profusion and there were several large floral pieces from friends, including an elegant and massive floral horseshoe for good luck. Mr. Pushin, the proprietor, and his staff of ladies, Mrs. Mrs. W. B. Lackey, Mrs. D. P. Azbill, Miss Bessie E. Azbill and Miss Margaret McBride were assisted in entertaining and waiting on the throngs that came constantly, by his brothers, Harry Pushin, of Danville, Sam Pushin, of Bowling Green, the latter's son, Abe Pushin, of Bowling Green, and Jake Baer, of Danville. Isaac Pushin, aged father of these bustling business men, was here from Louisville, to see the opening of this newest store of his sons. Mr. Pushin was kept busy, also, receiving congratulations from many friends he has already made in Richmond upon the brilliant success of his opening.

FIRE EXPERT TO DRILL LOCAL MEN

In order to give the members of Richmond's fire department the benefit of the latest methods and plans for successfully combatting blazes, Mayor William T. Neill has arranged through the Kentucky Actuarial Bureau to have Capt. Stilz come here for about a week or ten days' stay. Capt. Stilz is a graduate of the training school of the Philadelphia fire department and for seven years has been connected with the Louisville fire department, the last four year as drill master. He is an expert on fires and successful methods of combatting them. He will put the local laddies through the latest drills and show them many things about the game that perhaps they don't know.

February was a record month for fires in Richmond, there having been a total of eight. None was very large or disastrous, however, the worst probably having been the gutting of the home of J. R. Quisenberry on Second street.

Homes Searched While Men Are In Court

London, Feb. 28.—While they were sitting in the court room listening to the trial of moonshine cases, the homes of Cal Turner and his son-in-law, Howard Warner, were searched by Sheriff J. E. Dying Man Confesses Viars Murder Alleged Whitesburg, Feb. 28.—In the alleged deathbed confession of John Coyer, former soldier, at Beaver Creek, north of here, the mysterious death of Miss Viars three years ago has been cleared. Miss Viars disappeared and a year later her body was found in the Ohio river. Just before Coyer died he confided to friends he murdered Miss Viars because she had another.

"We knew it all right," Mr. Perry continued. "But we insist that you be fair. I want you." Senator Frank E. Daugherty, of Nelson county, ranking member of the Rules Committee, was the next to take the floor.

NO CASH IN LATEST BONUS PLAN

By Associated Press

Washington, Mar. 1—Elimination of the cash feature of the soldiers' bonus, initially agreed upon today by representatives of the House, Army and Marine committee, Chairman Fordney and a special subcommittee had been named. In unanimous agreement, the committee agreed upon some plan which would not entail any large drain on the federal treasury within the next two years.

"Such a plan would make unnecessary any immediate bonus financing and would remove the curse of Congress in the House over the bill."

While elimination of the cash feature was not actually decided upon, yet the general understanding was it the cash feature is retained it would be much less attractive than other features there would be available.

And that is what the committee recommended.

HOSIERY

Rotation of the crops is as important in the garden as it is in the use of field crops. Plan your garden this year so that you will not have the same vegetables growing on the same ground it did last year.

The most useful garden is the one that has a succession of crops throughout the season. This plan will necessitate several plantings of early vegetables, such as radishes, onions and peas.

Save time and labor and keep down the weeds easier this year by planting the garden seeds in long rows. This allows the use of a wheel cultivator or even a horse cultivator in some cases. Beds of lettuce, onions and radishes are out of date.

Leave a place in the garden this year for spinach as it is one of the most healthful vegetables grown. It is a quick maturing crop and will furnish a large amount of greens. For early greens, plant the last of March. Gardeners in the College of Agriculture say the Victoria, New Zealand or Bloomsdale are good varieties for Kentucky.

A few minutes spent in the garden each day is better than two or three hours once a week.

A Basketball Problem

Basketball authorities, particularly those of the college, threatening radical changes in the code book. The proposed changes especially trouble those in that section relating to the foul throw after a jump shot. Some possessives like "theirs" seem to suggest that they win games. This may never even have happened in the floor. We are hoping the players do not play at free throwing, also, early in the game when a person is fouled. Let the foul, let its victim make the foul throw; when a second foul is called, such as shooting a jump ball, allow the player of the offending player to make the foul throw.

The quiet little village of College Hill is coming to life from the winter. It has two churches, four stores well filled with all kinds of general merchandise usually kept in country stores. The proprietors declare they are having good sales. "Competition is the life of trade." A saw mill will soon be installed here. And now for a high school and College Hill will be up-to-date in every respect, which we predict will be located here in the near future. College Hill is located on the hill overlooking Lock No. 11 on the Kentucky river and gets a good view of surrounding country. The Sugar Loaf mountain, near Irvine 10 miles away, can be plainly seen, affording much beautiful scenery. We think this the most picturesque place for a graded and high school in Madison county.

GOLF CLUB MEETS THURSDAY NIGHT

An informal meeting of those interested in the organization of a golf club in Richmond will be held at McGaughy's Studio Thursday evening at 7:30. At the first meeting held last week a committee was appointed to take up the question of securing a site for the proposed club and this committee will report its findings at the meeting Thursday evening. A good many people signified their willingness to affiliate with such club provided there is to be a country club in connection with it, and would not be interested if there is to be a golf course alone.

While the intention was to have a golf club only, it may be that a country club also can be included in the original plans, and it is hoped that all those who have either plan in mind will attend the meeting which is to be held Thursday evening.

If there is a site proposed at the coming meeting which can be secured on satisfactory terms it is expected that an organization will be perfected to go ahead with the necessary arrangements in forming the club, and it is desired that as many as can, who are interested in the movement, will be present.

"The 1921 crop is shortest since 1908, when a crop was partly cut out by the old pool

body, the Burley Tobacco Society," he said.

As a result of the conspicuous success of the burley movement

the speaker predicted that in a few years the whole agricultural production of the state will be handled cooperatively through similar associations.

At the conclusion of Mr. Barker's speech several "hardened sinners," who had refused to become members of the association came forward amid the cheers of their neighbors and friends and signed the contract to the 1922

crop. At the adjournment of the meeting members of the association crowded around to shake hands with them. "Just as if they had joined church," a bystander remarked. "They have"

his companion replied.

The next meeting of the league will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Phoenix

Hotel in Lexington and it is expected that final steps in organization will take place at this time. Schedules will be presented and possibly adopted and by-laws and constitution are to be adopted.

The work of completing the organization of the circuit has been placed in the hands of the new president, Mr. Russell, who was president of the old Blue Grass League, defunct nearly a decade.

The league is expected to have six clubs, Mt. Sterling, Cincinnati, Winchester, Paris, Maysville and Lexington. Two games will be played by each club each week on Thursdays and Sundays. An agreement was reached by which games will be played in Lexington, the largest city on the circuit, nearly every Sunday.

The Face In the Mirror

Your face does it wear the contented expression of good health, or are the features drawn and pallid? In the latter case, your story is read by all who see you, and what woman of spirit wants to be pitied for her physical condition? There is a way to the nervous, tired lines out of your face and the slump out of your body. The use of that standard remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, will strengthen the nerves and tone up the system to resist that excessive fatigue.

POOL SPEECH

"There have been few complaints on any score. Next year we will have a better organization, a cheaper one and the growers will make more money because of these improvements.

"Because of this wonderful record, and because of the promises which we can fulfill every year, the association must be, and is going to be stronger than ever.

"We want the man who was out this season to be with us next year. We do not harbor any grudge against him. Doubtless he was acting in what he thought was the wisest way.

"But we have shown him without a doubt that our way is the best and we are going to welcome him in. He must be sought out and invited with all proper argument to come in."

Mr. Barker at this point issued a warning against the use of any form of coercion or intimidation to bring men into the organization.

Growers were urged to obtain the best seed and to pay strict attention to improving the quality of tobacco this year.

"Do not plant any more tobacco than you can attend to properly," the speaker said. "If you do, it means that the whole crop will be neglected and the quality will be lower."

"The 1921 crop is shortest since 1908, when a crop was partly cut out by the old pool body, the Burley Tobacco Society," he said.

As a result of the conspicuous success of the burley movement the speaker predicted that in a few years the whole agricultural production of the state will be handled cooperatively through similar associations.
